

Interracial Love..is just love

First Samuel 16:7 says, "The Lord does not look at the things people look at. People look at the outward appearance, but the Lord looks at the heart." This could have never been put more perfect. Its the year 2016 and some people are still hung up on this whole interracial dating thing. First let me say its not interracial dating or interracial love, it is simply just dating and love; period. I'm probably going to get a lot of flack for this piece, but i don't care thats what being a writer is about. Sometimes we're put in a position where we have to stand up or speak on a topic that is either touchy or controversial. Let me say that i love all woman, lol that sounds so bad; but for real every color, shape, style whatever all y'all are beautiful to me. How can anyone look at a person and rank them solely on their race and not even try to get to know them because their parents or society doesn't approve? You could be really missing out on meeting the love of your life, soul mate or your next baby daddy. Lol, no for real though there is something special in a interracial union in my opinion. I love my sisters don't ever get it confused, y'all rock my beautiful black queen. But i have to admit there is something really sexy to me about latino and caucasian women. Latin women for example have this way about them, their speech or accent sometimes can seduce by itself. They have a style all their own, and their bodies are a force to be reckoned with. And its not even all about sex or nothing like that, i just feel the diversity of women is one of gods gift to man. Now this is where i'm probably gonna catch beef, white women are honestly very desirable to all men. I have dated all races of women and every women has something special about them, but white women really do it for me. I more then likely will marry a white women, if not a hispanic one..i'm just being honest. Now all woman can be crazy or just not right depending on the woman, but white girls just have this temperament that clicks with my personality. I don't know if its the fact that we are as curious about them as they're about us, or that its just still in some social groups considered taboo. Now i don't know if y'all seen me or not but i'm a good looking dude and when i step out i get looks from all ladies. But its one in particular i seem to always get, its from white women. I mean little ones to cougars to milf's they be checking for me and i love it. It lets me know that i got good genes and that they know a good thing when they see it. Now my sisters be fly as hell and checking for me as well but, when i look they want to act like i ain't all that and they were not even looking. Girl please you know you see me. White girls are not trying to stunt on you and if you look good they're more then likely gonna smile or flirt. I don't know this is just my opinion and some won't agree, but i'm sure there are more then enough men that agree. Bottom line all women are beautiful, every color, every shape and style. But i just seem to be more attracted to ladies outside my race. Maybe growing up in South Florida did it to me, maybe it spoiled me with all its diversity and beautiful women. Way in and let me know fellas, ladies too. How do you'll really feel about interracial dating? Yes or no? and your experiences with dating different races. Inquiring minds want to know, but i know whats up already.
